Unweighted frequencies
OxIS 2019

Below are the unweighted frequency tables for all OxIS 2019 variables in alphabetic order by variable name. The item information is generally in the variable label. For example, the fifth variable in the dataset is named 'actchar'. Its' label is 'qb2f Participation in: A charity organization or social aid organization?'. Find the question by doing a search of the questionnaire for 'QB2' (note caps). This is a matrix question and item f is listed below. For items that are part of matrix questions search for the root item. For example, question B2 asks about participation in various activities. If you wanted to know the exact wording of the item about participation in a union, which is item c, you would search for 'QB2' and then look at item c.

Following each table is the Stata variable note for that variable. The variable notes contain useful information. Most often, for variables that were derived from variables in the questionnaire the notes give the Stata statements used to create the variable. Variables without notes were usually created by the survey company and they do not exist in the questionnaire, e.g. the variable "weight".

Frequencies for two variables are omitted because they are not informative: weight & serial number.

Important: These frequencies do NOT reproduce population proportions. To reproduce population proportions you MUST weight all analyses using the variable named "weight".

dg4:
  1.  clonevar dg4 = dgorig
  2.  recode dg4 (0 = 0 "No qual")
  3.  ...(1/8 11 15/17 19 22/23 = 1 "Secondary")
  4.  ...(9/10 12 18 20 24 = 2 "Further ed")
  5.  ...(13/14 21 25/31 = 3 "Higher ed.")
  6.  Remember that '0' does not mean 'no schooling' it means 'no degree' or 'no
qualifications'
  7.  From ql1
  8.  .
  9.  Above coding is only a part of the full logic used to create dg4.
 10.  Complexity comes from relation btn edntt and dgorig.
 11.  For example, some Rs said dgorig == 'no qual' but edntt == 'university'
 12.  In general, we believe the edntt is more likely to be memorable and, hence, more reliable
 13.  .
 14.  This often depends on what you believe; for example, 1 R claims
 15.  that dgorig == 'Bachelors degree' but edntt == 'Secondary school'. Which is right?
 16.  In this case I thought the dgorig is more likely to be memorable, but it is also

  17.  possible the R misunderstood what 'Bachelors degree' meant.
  18.  .

dgx4:
  1. clonevar dg4 = dgorig
  2. recode dg4 (0 = 0 "No qual")
  3. ...(1/8 11 15/17 19 22/23 = 1 "Secondary")
  4. ...(9/10 12 18 20 24 = 2 "Further ed")

5.   ...(13/14 21 25/31 = 3 "Higher ed.")
6.   Remember that '0' does not mean 'no schooling' it means 'no degree' or 'no
qualifications'
7.   From ql1
8.   .
9.   Above coding is only a part of the full logic used to create dg4.
10.   Complexity comes from relation btn edntt and dgorig.
11.   For example, some Rs said dgorig == 'no qual' but edntt == 'university'
12.   In general, we believe the edntt is more likely to be memorable and, hence, more reliable
13.   .
14.   This often depends on what you believe; for example, 1 R claims
15.   that dgorig == 'Bachelors degree' but edntt == 'Secondary school'. Which is right?
16.   In this case I thought the dgorig is more likely to be memorable, but it is also
17.   possible the R misunderstood what 'Bachelors degree' meant.
18.   .
19.   See clean3.do for the gory details
20.   replace dgx = .n if inlist(labfor, 7, 8, 9, 10)
21.   Remember that '0' does not mean 'no schooling' it means 'no degree' or 'no
qualifications'
